

Publication: SouthWestBusiness.co.uk (website)

Date: 30 November 2017

Circulation: unknown

Overview: Brunelcare wins in Great British Care Awards 2017, South West Regional Finals

SouthWestBusiness
Connecting the region's business leaders

In association with GWR

Home Regions Sectors Members Your News Awards Galleries Business Calendar SME SOS

Bristol News

Charity recognised for excellence at South West Care Awards

Share Article

Written by: Hannah Baker | Posted 30 November 2017 14:09

Brunelcare, the South West-based charity that provides care and support for elderly people, has won the Care Employer Award at the Great South West Care Awards 2017.

The ceremony, which was hosted at the Bristol Marriott Hotel, was attended by 400 people working for health and social care companies in the region.

The organisation was recognised for its commitment to care and having a sustained track record of delivering high-quality care and managing improvement.

TRENDING

Green 50: South West companies recognised

Public believes housing investment priority

Move over London: UK's top 10 most popular business areas

Office space at last becomes available

Funding scheme to gigabit broadband

Budget 2017: Hope despite Brexit, John executive officer, O

HEADLINES

Construction & Cor Property Generators Reach to power new

Digital & Hi-tech Manufacturing industry to be more

Energy Green 50: top progressive green companies

Engineering & Aeronautics for expansion in 20 Cabrini-Dale, chief executive

Manufacturing So to people before automation productivity

For full story please turn over...

brunelcare

Brunelcare, the South West-based charity that provides care and support for elderly people, has won the Care Employer Award at the Great South West Care Awards 2017.

The ceremony, which was hosted at the Bristol Marriott Hotel, was attended by 400 people working for health and social care companies in the region.

The organisation was recognised for its commitment to care and having a sustained track record of delivering high-quality care and managing improvement.

Employee Monika Szwolko, who works at Brunelcare's Saffron Gardens care home, also picked up the Ancillary Worker Award and was applauded for her excellence caring for people she looks after.

The charity now goes forward as a finalist for the Great British Care Awards taking place in Birmingham early next spring.

Read more: Green 50: South West's most progressive green companies recognised

Brunelcare also saw other finalists shortlisted at the awards event, including:

Carol Harewood, Brunelcare's Robinson House care home (good nurse)

Carole Minton, Brunelcare's Robinson House care home (cook/chef)

Francis Devilla, Brunelcare's Deerhurst care home (good nurse)

Holly Williamson, Brunelcare's Saffron Gardens care home (care newcomer)

Janet Smythe, Brunelcare's Glastonbury care home (activities co-ordinator)

Joanna Crago, Brunelcare's Glastonbury care home (palliative/end-of-life care)

Joy White, Brunelcare's Robinson House care home (registered manager and Palliative/End-of-life care)

Kevin Fairman, Brunelcare's chief executive says: "We won the Care Employer Award because of the great quality of care that all our employees provide day-in and day-out in their roles."

<http://www.southwestbusiness.co.uk/regions/bristol/charity-recognised-for-excellence-at-south-west-care-awards-30112017140937/>

